

The Work That Reconnects (WTR) Workshop Series

Have you been struggling to sustain a sense of hope in these times of global environmental and social distress? This workshop, grounded in the work of Joanna Macy, fosters what Macy calls Active Hope. It unfolds as a spiral journey that inspires and changes helps us experience the truth that we are stronger, more creative, and more deeply interconnected than we commonly know.

Come take this journey
from gratitude,
through acknowledging
the pain we have for our world,
to seeing with with new eyes
and seeing our own unique going forth,
we experience our deep connection with all life.

We find our lively connection with past and future generations.

We discover new community and sense our own capacity for change.

If you have participated in Active Hope or the Work That Reconnects
before, this may deepen and refresh your sense of the work.

The workshop is a shared process, thus it is essential to attend every session.

If you have participated in Active Hope or the Work That Reconnects
before, this may deepen and refresh your sense of the work.

The journey is conducted over 5 sessions and it will be held on Zoom to accommodate attendance during this winter time.

This workshop is facilitated by Hilary Krivchenia, MDiv.,

certified facilitator of the WTR

with Annie Warmke,

Director of Blue Rock Station.

This zoom workshop is offered without fee.

However, if you are financially able,
donations of up to 50.00 are welcome.

Scholarships available.

To register or for more info,
please email:

wtrspiraljourney@gmail.com

This series will be held on zoom at 6:30-9pm on the following dates:

Tuesdays, January 30, February 6, 13, 20, 27.

Online meeting information will be sent to you after you have registered.

For Joana

with gratitude from Dori