April 17th -Living with Wildlife

Two hundred years ago, most of eastern North America was a forest, teeming with wildlife. The forest is mostly gone, and most wildlife populations are a fraction of what they once were. We can turn our yards into wildlife habitats to restore and strengthen the natural web of life. Learn why native plants are critical to wildlife—especially migrating songbirds—and how to make your yard into a space that will attract birds, butterflies and other wildlife—without offending your neighbors. Speaker will be Dawn Hewitt.

April 24th-Upcycle Project

Arts and Crafts Fun: Reuse Reader Digest book pages to make a decorative wreath. Presenter will be Heather Royer.
